

'Leads' In Negro Slaying

Tension In Mississippi Is Mounting

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — As tension mounted in this troubled Southern city, police and federal agents continued a massive search today for the assassin of Negro leader Medgar W. Evers.

"We have some good leads," said Chief of Detectives M. B. Pierce.

Meanwhile, the widow of the slain man — her voice trembling with emotion — called on Negroes to continue their battle against racial discrimination.

Evers was gunned down in his driveway early Wednesday.

There were fears that the ambush slaying would touch off fresh racial strife in this Mississippi capital city of 145,000.

The Rev. A. Charles Jones, dean of Campbell College for Negroes here and one of the leaders in the integration movement, telegraphed President Kennedy that the "tragedy may provoke a violent explosion in this community which will bring additional disgrace and tarnish the American image before the people of the world."

Evers, 37, had been Mississippi field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for the past nine years.

Meanwhile at the University of Mississippi 200 miles north of Jackson, at least one soldier—a .45 caliber gun strapped to his waist—was seen outside the dormitory housing two Negro students several times Wednesday night.

The soldier appeared to be on guard, observers said, although the Army withdrew its forces from the campus two days ago and insists no men were at Baxter Hall, where James Meredith and Cleve McDowell live, Wednesday night.

Power Rates To City Well Termed Okay

The Missouri Public Service Commission indicated today that the contract entered into by the Sedalia Water Department and the Missouri Public Service Company for water pumping power for the new well on the Community Center road is "regular" and does not call for an investigation.

R. E. Duffey, whose office handles the power rate schedules for Missouri, said that the rate beginning at one cent per kilowatt-hour and stepping down to one-half cent per KWH as more power is used, is an approved rate filed with the commission, regardless of who furnishes the transformers and associated electrical equipment, in special provisions for municipalities.

The question of rates came up Wednesday in a story in The Democrat - Capital, in which George Ray, manager of the Central Missouri Electric Co-op, indicated that the MPSC might have an "interest" in the transaction, if the commission knew about it.

In a report earlier, this newspaper indicated that the rate offered by the Missouri Public Service Company was on an approved rate schedule on file with the commission. In relation to this statement, Ray, in the story Wednesday, stated.

"If so, the Missouri Public Service Company owes the Se-

License Suspensions For 3 Area Places

Sale of alcoholic beverages to minors has resulted in 17-day liquor license suspensions for three area establishments, according to the state department of Liquor Control, supervised by Hollis Ketchum.

Suspensions will become effective June 17, the department said.

The proprietors and firms are: Wilkie B. and Lorene E. Dye, doing business as the Beachcombers, Route 2, Versailles; Louis A. Bestgen, operator of Bestgen's Cigar & Tobacco Store, Tipton; and Harry B. Cart, operator of Top 'O the Hill, Route 2, Versailles.

Kenneth Neidholdt Dies

Accident Is Fatal To Sedalia Fireman

A motorcycle accident on Highway 65, seven miles northwest of Marshall, at 2:55 p. m. Wednesday proved fatal to a Sedalia man, Kenneth Earl Neidholdt, 30, 1700 South Montgomery.

The motorcycle Neidholdt was riding left the roadway after apparently hitting gravel on the right shoulder of the highway on a long sweeping curve known as Clyde's corner, near the Marshall Water Works.

According to an eyewitness report, the machine then traveled down an embankment, flipped end over end, jumping a fence and throwing Neidholdt off the machine.

The motorcycle then reportedly bounced high into the air, and a shirt which had been in a saddlebag on the machine snagged on a power line.

According to the deputy who investigated, Neidholdt suffered what appeared to be internal injuries to the chest, and injuries to the head. No information concerning the exact cause of death was immediately available from the staff at the hospital in Columbia.

The eyewitnesses were John Gorrell and his son John, Jr., who live about a half mile from the scene of the accident. They were 20 or 30 feet from the road, waiting for a chance to move some farm machinery out of a cornfield, when the mishap occurred.

Neidholdt and another motorcycleist, John D. Bunch, 1701 East Harvey, were reportedly traveling to Brunswick, which is north of Marshall on Highway 24. While in Marshall the two men had exchanged motorcycles. On leaving Marshall they noticed road work in progress on 24, and decided to re-route and travel to Brunswick by the way of Waverly and

Field Service Students Stop Slated Here

American Association of University Women will entertain a busload of American Field Service students, who will stop here June 30 to July 2, on their tour of the country following the year they spent in the State of California. The 22 girls and 14 boys are being accompanied on the trip by Miss Ann Hallock and Bill Gates, AFS chaperones.

The bus is scheduled to arrive in Sedalia at 5:15 Sunday, June 30, and will unload on the parking lot of the Broadway Presbyterian Church. While here they will be guests in Sedalia homes until they resume their trip Tuesday morning, July 2.

Highlight of their stay in Sedalia will be a dinner at Holiday Inn on Monday evening, July 1, which will be open to the public. Reservations may be made until Thursday, June 27, at 6 p. m. by calling Mrs. Jack Cunningham, TA 6-1605, or Miss Edna Snell, TA 7-0432.

Guests at the dinner will have an opportunity to hear these students tell of their experiences in American schools and homes and bits from their native lands.

Stolen Auto Located

A car stolen May 29 from the Thompson-Greer Motor Company lot here was recovered Wednesday in a timbered area 13 miles east of Lebanon in Laclede County, but the auto had been stripped.

The car, a 1963 white Ford Thunderbird, was stripped of all accessories except the motor and carburetor.

Troop A Highway Patrol headquarters in Lee's Summit notified Sedalia police of the recovery at 10:50 p. m. Wednesday.

Carrollton, which was the reason they were traveling on Highway 65.

Bunch was traveling ahead of Neidholdt, and made the turn safely. He returned to the scene of the accident after noticing Neidholdt was no longer following.

The motorcycle traveled some 180 feet from the point where it started to bounce at the foot of the embankment, according to Saline County Deputy Sheriff Bill

Rumors of Resignations Fly

Tension In British Cabinet On Profumo Vice Scandal

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan rode through the second day of crucial Cabinet meetings over the Profumo scandal today with an outward show of Conservative unity. But signs grew that loyalty of key ministers was near the breaking point.

A 75-minute meeting heightened the tension of the crisis facing the 69-year-old prime minister.

Rumors of resignations by at least four ministers were partly dispelled when two of them issued flat denials. The other two kept their counsel.

The Labor party's "shadow" foreign secretary, Patrick Gordon Walker, returned from a trip to Moscow and declared the vice scandal involving former War Minister John A. Profumo, required the prime minister's resignation.

"I think perhaps this is the last service he could do his country," Walker said.

His remarks set the tone for Labor's attack in a full-scale parliamentary debate Monday.

Rumblings from the Cabinet meeting centered on Health Minister Enoch Powell, who steadfastly refused to deny the report he would quit over the moral issue of scandal in the private lives of men in high position.

The Evening Standard said Powell is on the point of resignation, and added this could start a landslide against the prime minister.

Reports spread through Whitehall that other men high in the party councils have been indulging in high life as was the disgraced Profumo.

Macmillan's problem in the face of these rumors was to know if he could again be the victim of a "breath-taking betrayal" as he described Profumo's conduct.

The threats of resignations, the denials, the rumblings even from

Holiday Inn Opening Expected June 24

The new Holiday Inn will open for business on June 24, if plans work out as expected. The only thing that would prevent it would be rain that would delay the black topping of the driveway.

Located on Highway 65, South, Holiday Inn will have 80 rooms, a banquet room that will seat 200 people, a coffee shop and a dining room. A formal opening will be held later.

Jim Grieshaber is the manager. Those who have an interest in Holiday Inn are W. E. Bingham, W. G. Whitaker, Abe Silverman, Morris Sagaloff, Jack Cunningham and George Dugan, Jr.

the rank and file of the party convalesced, created an atmosphere of tension and uncertainty as dynamic as the Suez crisis which toppled Anthony Eden and put Macmillan into power.

Rumors had spread that four ministers would quit over the moral aspects of the Profumo case.

One, Sir Keith Joseph, housing minister, disavowed any such intention. Home Secretary Henry Brooke also denied he was leaving the government.

Education Minister Edward Boyle was a question mark.

If all stay in office, Macmillan has gained an important respite in the crisis swirling around the conduct of Profumo, who lied to the House of Commons about his love affair with Miss Christine Keeler. The party girl shared her affections with a Soviet naval attaché.

The Conservatives expect Laborite opposition leader Harold Wilson to spearhead the attack. They

Local Architects Get Postal Contract On Boonville Job

W. A. Holloway, Regional Administrator of the General Services Administration, announced today that Sammons & Buller, Architects of Sedalia, have been awarded the AE contract for the extension and modernization of the Post Office Building at Boonville, Mo.

The extension, comprising over 9,000 square feet, will include basement and one story with brick exterior to match the present building; new mailing platform; and parking and maneuvering area.

The estimated cost of construction is over $200,000. Estimated date for completion of architectural plans and specifications is April 3, 1964.

Damp Weather Delays Some Crop Harvests

Damp weather has retarded hay harvest in the Sedalia area, according to the Missouri Farm Labor office.

Wet ground has prevented badly needed cultivation of corn and soybeans in this vicinity. The hot sun the past few days will enable farmers to get into the fields soon. Wheat has begun to change color and harvest should get underway about June 15. The office, located at 215 East Third, has orders for five farm hands with wages ranging from $35 to $50 per week.

Gear Fight For Kennedy Rights Plan

Southern Senators Say Its A Step Toward Statism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern senators are girding for an all out fight against President Kennedy's civil rights measures, particularly a bill their chief spokesman denounced as "a step toward statism."

Eighteen Dixie senators—all of them Democrats except Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex.—canvassed the situation at a closed meeting Wednesday in the wake of President Kennedy's appeal to the nation on civil rights Tuesday night.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., the leader of the group, told newsmen afterward that they are "very bitterly opposed to legislation that would further impinge on the right of private property in this country."

He was referring to a bill that Kennedy plans to submit to Congress next week to prohibit stores, hotels, restaurants and theaters from discriminating against Negroes.

Russell, denouncing this as "a step toward statism, a socialistic state," said a law of this kind had been invalidated by the Supreme Court in 1875 as an unconstitutional restriction on the use and control of private property.

While Russell directed most of his fire against this measure, he said the Southerners also would battle against empowering the attorney general to bring school desegregation suits.

Visitor Restriction At Bothwell Hospital

Overcrowded conditions at Bothwell Hospital have forced a restriction on the flow of visitors.

Charles M. Edwards, hospital administrator, said effective today visitors will be limited to members of a patient's immediate family.

This rule will be in effect until further announcement, Edwards said, but will not affect the hospital's maternity ward as conditions there are not so crowded.

Edwards said the hospital has 135 patients at the present time—15 over the regular capacity of 120. The total is a record for the hospital, Edwards pointed out.

A new wing still under construction at the hospital will increase capacity to 138 persons.

Jobless Pay In Area Dips Some $10,000

Notable Decrease Over Same Period Last Two Years

Unemployment insurance benefits paid in this area by the Sedalia branch office of the Division of Employment Security dropped over $10,000 from the previous month in line with a sharp statewide decline.

Jobless residents of Pettis, Johnson, Benton and Morgan counties were paid $42,942.35 during May, the Sedalia office reported. This represented a decrease from $55,621.52 in April and $97,826.93 in March. The year's high was $101,762.36, paid in February.

Russell M. Carr, manager of the Sedalia branch office, said new claims, often an index to new unemployment totalled 245 during May in the 4-county area—down 6.1 per cent compared to April, 1963, and down 41.4 per cent compared to May, 1962.

"Weekly claims totaled 1,795 during this same period, down 28.5 per cent compared to April, 1963, and down 8.9 per cent compared to May, 1962," he said.

Non-agricultural placements in May, 1963, increased 12.4 per cent compared to April with a greater number placed in wholesale and retail industry. Second high was in manufacturing industries and third in construction.

New applications for employment decreased 3.1 per cent, Carr stated. Job openings increased 7.8 per cent during this same period, with major demand continuing for qualified clerical, manufacturing and service skills.

A training program for auto mechanics under the Manpower Development and Training Act starts on Monday, June 17. Fifteen trainees have been selected for this training to be held at Queen City Motor Company, under

Mayor Would Serve On Racial Panel

Mayor L. L. Studer of Sedalia today told The Sedalia Democrat he would serve on a bi-racial human relations committee if such a committee should come into being in the city.

The mayor made this statement when questioned as to how he felt about the nation's mayors voting to back up President Kennedy's five-point plea for racial harmony.

The Rev. J. E. Gillum, Taylor Chapel Methodist Church, chairman of a bi-racial group of Sedalia citizens working for the formation of such a committee, stated to The Sedalia Democrat Thursday morning that the group hopes to meet with Mayor Studer and council members, individually, to try to work out a feasible plan to promote better race relations and equal opportunity in Sedalia.

The first meeting of the Human Relations Committee was held recently and was attended by members of both races, said Mr. Gillum. He emphasized that Negro citizens in the committee hope to avoid such things as "sit-ins."

"Perhaps it will be possible to work out a plan similar to that being used in Louisville, Ky., where an ordinance was passed making all public accommodations open to all citizens and giving the mayor of Louisville the power to enforce the ordinance."

An equal opportunities resolution was one of 28 proposals approved in a package at the final business session of the U.S. conference of mayors, in Honolulu. Three others were voted down.

The measure restated Kennedy's recommendations for:

Negro Enrolls At Huntsville

Wallace Doesn't Offer Any Interference There

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A 27-year-old Negro scientist engaged in government space age research enrolled without incident today in the University of Alabama System for Post-Graduate Work.

Officials of the U.S. Department of Justice were there to assist Dave Mack McGlathery in registering at the university extension center. He became the third member of his race to enter the university this week.

Gov. George C. Wallace was not present. He made his stand for segregation Tuesday at the main branch in Tuscaloosa but yielded to federal might and a Negro boy and girl were enrolled.

"I haven't much to say at this time," McGlathery said. "This is a new challenge to me. It's up to me to make good not necessarily for my race, but for myself."

McGlathery, a Navy veteran employed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, took a recess from his job to come to the two-story building on a sprawling 330-acre campus to register.

He paid a $60 fee to qualify for a course entitled, "Introduction to Atomic Physics." He will go to school two nights a week.

State Troopers were at the school to help city police prevent interference with a federal court order admitting McGlathery.

At Tuscaloosa, 150 miles southwest of here, students in increasing numbers were friendly to the other two Negroes, Vivian Malone and James A. Hood, both 20.

They enrolled Tuesday behind federalized Alabama National Guardsmen after the governor briefly stood off federal officials seeking to get the students registered.

Wallace informed the university president, Dr. Frank A. Rose, by telegram Wednesday night that he would not be present at Huntsville today.

With about 1,200 Alabama guardsmen on duty at Tuscaloosa, the segregationist governor wired Kennedy that state police were being withdrawn.

Peace and order were maintained, Wallace said, by his own men.

Red Purge Ordered By Betancourt

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — President Romulo Betancourt ordered the arrest of Venezuela's estimated 40,000 Communists and pro-Castro extremists Wednesday night following his escape from another assassination attempt.

Betancourt said three Communist terrorists plotted to assassinate him Wednesday with a time bomb at the Roman Catholic archbishop's palace in Ciudad Bolivar, a river port 275 miles south-east of Caracas.

The president told a national radio audience that police nabbed two of the terrorists as they entered the palace with three sticks of dynamite and a timing device. The third plotter got away.

"Society cannot be subject to continued risk to property and life by a group of pyromaniacs and terrorists," Betancourt said in ordering Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez, to start an immediate, nationwide roundup of members of the already-banned Communist and MIR parties. The MIR, or Movement of the Revolutionary Left, is a pro-Castro revolutionary movement.

The order was the toughest Betancourt has issued against subversives who began moving against him shortly after he took office in 1959. The next election is scheduled for November. The president has banned Communists from the election.

Money Bills Reduced By $30 Million

House And Senate Conferees Study To Begin Monday

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — House and Senate conferees will start work Monday on major appropriation bills passed by the Senate Wednesday night at a level about $30 million under the House totals.

The estimated Senate total was $1,415,000,000, about $26 million under Gov. John M. Dalton's budget recommendations and well within the expected revenue for the next two years.

The Senate finished work on the money bills only a few hours after its Education Committee defeated, 7-5, a move to bring to the floor a bill liberalizing the state aid formula under the school foundation program by an estimated $35 million per biennium.

The committee plans to meet again next Wednesday, when an effort will be made to revive the bill. But even its friends were dubious it could be brought back to life and passed this late in the session.

As the appropriation bills went through the Senate, they provided an estimated $229 million to finance the foundation program for the next two years. That includes the governor's recommendation for a $9 million increase to take care of natural enrollment growth.

The House increased the total by $12 million instead of 9 million.

For the most part the money bills were approved just as they were recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee. Although dozens of changes were proposed, only four were adopted.

Two were increases—$37,500 to repair a building at the St. Louis state school and hospital to house mentally disturbed juvenile delinquents, and $16,450 more for the Human Rights Commission to bring it up to the governor's recommendation.

Two were cuts—$132,391 to wipe out the state Civil Defense Agency and $64,900 for a census of handicapped children by county school superintendents.

May Re-Arrest Case To Finish Jail Sentence

No pick-up order had been issued as of noon today by Police Judge U. L. Howerton to re-arrest Herbert J. Case, 17, 910 West Fourth, who was released from a ten-day jail sentence to join the service, but apparently did not.

Local recruiting officials all said Case had not joined the service through their offices.

Howerton told The Democrat-Capital this afternoon he would talk the matter over with City Attorney John McCloskey tomorrow morning to determine what action should be taken.

The Judge said the youth had served five days and unless he does, or has, entered the military service "by all rights should be re-arrested and serve the other five days."

The youth was sentenced to jail on a charge of disturbing the peace and was released before the sentence was completed so he could join the service, presumably immediately. Army recruiters said a normal six-months waiting period is usually required to enlist anyone with a police record of this type.

Whether the youth has enlisted at a recruiting office elsewhere could not be determined. Enlistees in all branches of the Armed services are required to undergo a background investigation to determine if they have a police record other than minor traffic violations.

'Dictatorship Needed'

Brazilian Economy Slow In Getting On Its Feet

By EDGAR MILLER
RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—It's easy to get discouraged in Brazil these days.
It's hard to be optimistic while you wait for hours in lines to buy food which daily costs more.
It's difficult to get excited about economic recovery plans when your salary buys less and less each month.
"What we need is a good dictatorship," says laborer Joao da Silva, 30, a father of three who makes about $30 a month. He says many of his neighbors and co-workers feel the same way. They want leadership.
Joao isn't worried about losing his democratic freedoms and he isn't particularly interested in communism. He is interested in how he's going to feed and clothe his family.
"The way it is now, the president can't just up and do what needs to be done," says Joao. "He has to ask Congress and a big fight gets started and it never gets done."
The Brazilian government's efforts to solve this nation's financial problems have been hampered by continuing internal political and economic pressures, unrest in the armed forces and a slow-moving Congress.
Despite the ambitious aims of the three-year economic recovery plan, the cost of living in the first five months of 1963 has shot up 25.5 per cent, according to preliminary unofficial figures of the semi-official Getulio Vargas Foundation, compared with a 14.3 per cent increase for the same period last year.
The price climb leveled off in April and May to about 4 per cent after hitting a peak of 9.7 per cent in March.
The problem for the low-income worker is that the big increases recently have been in areas of basic necessity such as food, clothing and medicine. Clothing last month took a 14.1 per cent jump.
On the positive side, Finance Minister Francisco Santiago Dantas, the strong man of President Joao Goulart's Cabinet, says a new $60-million credit released by the International Monetary Fund will take care of Brazil's balance of payments problems for the remainder of the year.
Dantas and other Brazilian economists interpret the credit as a demonstration of confidence in Brazil's efforts to combat inflation and achieve stabilization.
Goulart meanwhile has informed a labor union group that he opposes any attempts to put strike pressure on Congress to speed up action on reform legislation.
The leftist-dominated unions want to call a general strike to hasten congressional action on agrarian reform.
Despite the gloomy outlook at the moment, there are long-range signs of great promise for South America's largest nation.
Brazil's steel industry is becoming an important economic factor. New mills are constantly increasing steel production.
Sao Paulo's industry appears to be coming out of a slight recession.
A highway has been opened linking Bahia in the poverty-stricken northeast with the industrial south. Another highway linking the capital, Brasilia, with Belem in the north is nearing completion.
Brazil has often been called the "sleeping giant of the Americas." The optimistic see the nation's current struggles as the first tossings of the giant as it awakens. The darkness they believe is the dark before the dawn.

Nevada Turns Down Sales Tax Increase

CARSON CITY, Nevada (AP)—Nevada voters surprised state legislators Tuesday and turned down a proposed one per cent sales tax increase that would have been spent on schools.
With unofficial returns almost complete, the proposal got only 17,134 votes. There were 34,236 against passage—a 2 to 1 margin. The turnout was an estimated 50 per cent of the 102,282 registered voters.
The extra penny tax would have raised an estimated $10 million a year, much of which would have gone for emergency school aid.
The 1963 legislature submitted the tax package after rejecting any boost in gambling taxes—a main source of income for Nevada.

Grand Jury Will Investigate Court Pickets

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A federal grand jury has been asked to investigate the picketing of a U.S. District Court session by Negro integrationists.
In his charge Tuesday to the jury, Judge Arthur J. Stanley said a law against influencing a judge may have been violated by the picketing.
It was his court that 39 Negro men, women and children picketed May 11. Their placards accused him of delaying a decision in a segregation suit brought by parents of 15 Negro children against the Board of Education.

Cigarettes Are Bad Says Next President Of Medical Group

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—The president-elect of the American Medical Association says there is no question in his mind that cigarette smoking is the greatest producer of preventable disease.
Dr. Edward R. Annis of Miami, Fla. emphasized in an interview with the Evening Bulletin Wednesday that he was speaking as an individual physician in warning against the health dangers of cigarette smoking.
But, he said he is "absolutely in favor" of a resolution which his own medical society is planning to present at next week's annual meeting of the AMA calling for a stepped up campaign of youth education concerning "res-

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Something happened today that has made me thoroughly ashamed. Today was the day I decided to give the library a top-to-bottom cleaning and polishing. This meant taking all the books off the shelves. I ran across three books which I had "borrowed." One of these books was personally autographed by the author and I promised faithfully to return it within the week. That was last summer.

Then I got to thinking of all the books I had loaned to friends who had promised to return them — and never did. Millions of people read your column, Ann, and I'll bet thousands who are reading these words have some borrowed books on their shelves. Will you print this letter and proclaim today "Return Borrowed Book Day?" Thank you. —DEE TROIT

Dear Dee Troit: Be it known that today, June 13, 1963 is proclaimed to be "Return Borrowed Book Day" in the United States, Canada and all foreign countries in which this column appears. And thank you for reminding me. I'd better return a couple of books myself.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 11-year-old son has refused to do one thing in school all year long.

I have talked to his teacher, the principal, and other mothers. I've consulted a psychologist, our minister, our family physician, the eye doctor and the ear doctor. They all say he is healthy, normal, and intelligent — not to worry, that he will study when he is ready. The question is when will he be ready?

I might add he is rather large for his age, quite handsome, and the girls like him. He hates competitive games and soap and water. I've praised, threatened, bribed and pleaded. Nothing works. What do I do next? —STYMIED BUT HOPEFUL

Dear Stymied: Why don't you try leaving him alone? This boy sounds like a kid whose mother is pushing him too hard. He may "be ready" when you take the whip off his back.

Dear Ann Landers: I married this girl when she was 18. I thought she was mature because she had already finished two years of college, but I have learned that maturity and intelligence are not the same thing.

We have had 18 months of what I will freely admit has been less than a perfect marriage. We seem to be arguing continuously about unimportant things. I have long suspected that my wife picks the fights so she can have an excuse

Much Longer Vacations Sought By Steelworkers

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Sabbaticals for industrial workers as well as professors is becoming a top union goal.

The United Steelworkers of America union is expected to reveal next week whether it has won such extended vacations from the major steel companies.

This union got sabbaticals accepted by American Can and Continental Can companies last fall for their 32,000 union members.

The steelworkers have been pushing hard to extend this to the basic steel companies in the negotiations that have been going on for weeks and which are set to reach a climax in the next few days.

The sabbatical leave, as set forth in the can company contracts, calls for 13 weeks of paid vacations every five years for employees with 15 years or more seniority. This is an addition to the usual vacations in other years.

If the steel industry agrees, other unions may be expected to try to reach like contracts in many fields.

The sabbatical idea is put forth as one of several labor programs for combating unemployment. It's a spread-the-work plan, like shorter work weeks, earlier retirements, longer annual vacations, and various schemes for ironing out the ups and downs of employment in industries with strong cyclical patterns.

Management's chief objection has been the cost. Someone else has to be paid while the older employee—also being paid—is enjoying his 13 weeks off. The extra expense is added to a long list of rising costs that push production charges higher and squeeze profits or boost prices, or both.

Another factor is that the increased number of employees on the payroll because of sabbaticals, or longer annual vacations, or shorter work weeks, means that many more in line for fringe benefits. These range from pensions to health insurance, to unemployment payment charges, to paid vacations.

And fringe benefits have been getting more emphasis than straight wage scale increases in labor negotiations in recent years. But the unions see the sabbatical as one of their best schemes for combating the unemployment they lay to increased automation. Job security is a big thing this year.

Some experts figure that the sabbatical leave plan of the can companies will cost about 7½ cents an hour when it goes into effect next January—it was delayed while plant schedules were rearranged.

Steel company executives have insisted that in their companies the costs would run 12 to 15 cents an hour. And they complain that costs already are too high.

Area Development Bill Is Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats Clarence Cannon, W. R. Hull Jr., and Paul C. Jones of Missouri voted with Republicans in the House Wednesday and killed a bill that would have authorized more funds for area redevelopment.

Both Missouri Republicans and all five Republicans from Kansas voted against the bill. Five Missouri Democrats voted for it.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

GOLDWATER: Sen. Barry Goldwater estimates it's costing $12,000 out of his own pocket to tell the people who write him about it that he's not running for president.

Goldwater, Arizona Republican who is being boomed by some members of his party for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination, estimated in an interview that will be the cost of hiring three additional secretaries to answer his mail.

Despite evidence of what some other politicians might be inclined to regard as popular demand, Goldwater maintained that he has not changed his stance that he is only running for re-election in Arizona.

It was as a senator and not a potential 1964 rival that he dropped in on President Kennedy at the White House on Wednesday. He said he urged the President to reappoint Philip R. Rodgers, a Republican, as a member of the National Labor Relations Board.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Wednesday night in New York that he considers Goldwater the leading contender at present for the nomination next year. But he added it is a "horse race" between Goldwater, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Michigan Gov. George Romney with "none of them a shoo-in; nobody has a majority."

VETERANS: The Senate Finance Committee has voted to re-open National Service Life Insurance for World War II and Korean War veterans who let their policies lapse or did not take any out.

The proposal was sponsored by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., who has guided such a provision through the Senate six times—and seen it killed six times in the House.

ARTS: President Kennedy has established an advisory council on the arts to serve as a sounding board for cultural problems.

Nuclear Fuel Factory May Change Life of a Town

By MARIAN REYNOLDS
Olean Times-Herald
Written for The Associated Press
ASHFORD, N.Y., (AP) — The world's first privately owned nuclear fuel reprocessing plant may change Ashford from a tiny, rural town into bustling city.

Construction of the $33-million plant, which will reprocess atomic fuel for peacetime industrial purposes, has begun on a 3,300-acre site in this community of 1,500.

It may take a decade or more, but the State Labor Department unofficially estimates an urban potential population of 24,000.

The prospect of such growth is greeted with characteristic restraint by most residents of the quiet township.

"We're afraid we will see an end to the beauty of our rural area," says Marjorie Hollenbeck, a team operator in neighboring West Valley. Her partner, Marie Jones, is concerned that super highways, shopping plazas and heavy industry will spell the end of the pastoral life.

But Mark Bobseine, who owns a prize herd of 40 Holstein cattle, intends to "see it through," and continue to improve his farm, "the same as I have done for 45 years."

Farmer Elton Zetwick, 70, says "it would cost me more to buy and live elsewhere."

Dr. Ralph Lumb, director of the Nuclear Research Center at the University of Buffalo, says dramatic growth of the area is likely. "The space age has opened our eyes and taught us all to be visionaries," he said.

The state acquired 44 farms and summer places for the site in June 1961. The township lost $117,676 in property taxes but the state will make it up.

The state office of Atomic Research and Development—ARDA—which will invest $8.5 million in acquiring the land and developing it as an atomic waste disposal center, has fought to dispel fear of radiation.

The state intends to keep a herd of milking cows on the grounds, as evidence that animals and milk are not being harmed by radioactivity.

Two miles south, an engineer-contractor has bought 2,000 acres with space for golf club, 2,000 houses and a 150-acre lake impounded by a 75-foot dam. He figures the cost at $1.5 million.

More than 300 construction workers are expected at peak employment. When production begins in 1965, the atomic center will employ about 200, mostly technicians. It is anticipated that satellite industries and plants with nuclear fuel requirements will be attracted to the vicinity.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

NO CHANGE: The House Ways and Means Committee has rejected President Kennedy's recommendation that the special tax treatment of dividend income be repealed.

The administration had said that dropping the provision, included during the Eisenhower administration, would increase government revenues by some $460 million a year.

A taxpayer now is permitted to exclude from his taxable income the first $50 of dividends and to deduct from his tax bill a sum equivalent to 4 per cent of his total dividends.

The committee also voted Monday for a liberalization of drug purchase deductions for persons 65 and older but rejected a proposal that could have encouraged purchase of private medical insurance.

CHANGE-OVER: Richard I. Phillips, a career Foreign Service officer, was named the State Department official spokesman Monday. Lincoln White, director of the department's office of news since 1967, formally turned over the job to his successor. White has been appointed counsel general to Melbourne, Australia.

ANOTHER CHANGE: Chester Bowles was sworn in Monday as U.S. ambassador to India. He replaces J. Kenneth Galbraith, who is returning to his teaching post at Harvard.

The facility will be operated by Nuclear Fuel Services Inc., of Washington. Its only stockholders are the W. R. Grace Co., which will invest $8 million, and American Machine and Foundry, which will put in $2 million.

Other funds include a $2-million research grant from the Empire State Atomic Development Associates, a group of seven privately owned public utilities, and $13.3 million in bank loans.

The 250-acre plant will receive, store and process used irradiated fuel discharged from power reactors. The purpose is to separate and recover uranium and plutonium.

Nuclear scientists expect that within 25 years, uses for the stored nuclear ashes—solid and liquid waste from the fuel—will be developed. Officials believe the waste can be stored in perpetuity in the salt beds deeply underlying the area.

The fuel is federally owned and leased to utilities. The plant will derive its income from processing fees and salvage of saleable by-products.

Atlanta Pools Desegregated

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Negroes went swimming at five previously white pools Wednesday as the city's 12 public pools opened for the first time on a desegregated basis.

Only one incident was reported by police, a fight between a Negro and a white youth behind a pavilion some distance from the pool at Maddox Park. Both were in street clothes at the time.

Police Supt. Fred Beerman said he attached no significance to the incident.

A city parks spokesman estimated use of the pools by white persons was well below the average but said exact figures were not available.

When three Negro high school boys entered Piedmont Park pool, about six white persons left the pool and about 30 remained. A white mother passed by the

Reds Accuse U.A.R.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Communist China has accused the United Arab Republic of favoring India in the Himalayan border dispute, an Indian minister said Wednesday.

The woman then walked up to one of several policemen on duty at the large pool and asked, "Does the lifeguard have to save them if the drown? I wouldn't." The officer made no reply.

Power

dalia Water Department some $15,000 for expenditures at Flat Creek Water Works for transformers, lines and related equipment, and the Water Department should demand a refund.

In a telephone conversation with Duffey Thursday morning, The Democrat-Capital learned that the contract signed back in 1955 between the Missouri Public Service Co. and The Sedalia Water Company, in which the water company paid for the transformers and related equipment is a valid agreement.

This agreement contains a provision whereby the contract renews itself annually, providing either party does not cancel the contract. Duffey also stated that the amendatory agreement signed between the MPSC and the Water Department, in which the company furnishes the transformer and related equipment, is a valid agreement commonly entered into between power companies and municipalities.

Duffey explained that power companies and municipalities could enter into contract whereby the city furnished the electrical equipment, with certain restrictions as to rates, but in the resulting change the city might end up with a higher rate than before. Duffey indicated that both the original and the amendatory agreements are in line with policies approved by the commission, thus no refund to the Water Department is indicated.

Nothing Troubles Youth; Nothing Helps Oldsters

By HAL BOYLE

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "When you're young nothing troubles you," said the old lady, cheerfully. "And when you're old nothing helps."

The old lady is my mother, and she is given to extemporaneous remarks like that.

Now in her 76th year, she is an incurable philosopher and always has been. No matter what has happened to her—or to anyone around her—Mama has always been able to come up with a sage comment that points up a lesson to be learned from the experience. She can see a silver lining in a cloudburst.

She has slowed up a little since I saw her a year ago, and has need herself of her pithy optimism. An attack of rheumatism has made her dependent on a cane for support while in slow and painful transit from the kitchen to the living room sofa, which generally serves as the throne from which she delivers her philosophic judgments of mankind.

"I always knew I'd end up on a cane some day," she remarked. "My best friends now are the heating pad and the aspirin bottle. They're the only things that give any real relief. Oh, sometimes I think they ought to take all us old people out and shoot us—for all the good we are to anyone, including ourselves."

Then she added with a smile of victory: "But, do you know, I haven't had to pay out $15 to doctors in the last two years. That's pretty good, isn't it?"

Mama, who can find some good in practically any situation, can even see some advantage in her rheumatism. It has made her something of a weather oracle.

Any in the neighborhood who go ahead with a picnic, on a day when her leg cripples up, do so at their peril. It is pretty sure to rain before nightfall.

Mama, who is short and so stout I can barely get my arms around her to give her a hug, gets a placid satisfaction out of reading the obituaries of skinny people.

"I tried to get the doctor to put me on a diet," she remarked happily. "But he just told me, 'No, you're too old now to change your ways and besides you've learned how to live with your weight. Just go on being yourself.'"

Widowed more than 25 years, Mama has a lot of living to look back upon, the struggling years when she cooked and washed and dusted and scrubbed for Dad and five children. She doesn't dwell much in the past, however, and is quietly proud that all her children are still alive and eating regularly—and the youngest is now 45.

Mama, who educated herself through daily newspapers, still reads them thoroughly and keeps up with national and world affairs.

"There is too much unnecessary tension in life today," she said the other night as we sat cooling off on a bench in the back yard. "People worry themselves sick trying to get things they don't really need."

"When your Dad and I were young we had nothing—so there was nothing for us to worry about."

"But bad as it is, this old world is still pretty good, and I guess that's the way it always will be—if you just have sense enough to realize it."

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—My country's restaurants, 'tis of thee I sing.

Today you're making life a pleasure for the weary, wayworn traveler.

Remember when it was said there were only three cities in the United States where a man could get a decent meal—New York, New Orleans and San Francisco?

Remember when ketchup was the all-American food, because it was used from coast to coast to cover up culinary horrors? It was the only thing that tasted the same everywhere—but it took a strong man to shake it out of the bottle.

Only a generation ago the well-equipped motoring tourist needed a stomach pump as much as a tire pump. He didn't need to climb a mountain to find advenhas been a quiet revolution in American eating habits.

"I never trust a man who isn't interested in good food," William Allen White once said.

If the culture of a country is measured by the quality of its food, America is on the upbeat in this respect. More and more of our people know what good food is, enjoy it, and demand it.

The "Greasy Joe" type of place, run by a guy in a dirty apron, is on the way out. In practically every community of any size across our broad land there are restaurants now where a man can belly up the fine, well-cooked, tasty meals of endless variety that are an ecstasy of the palate and a joy to the soul.

How can you tell a good restaurant? My test is tea. There is only one way to make good tea. With boiling water. If the waitress brings you tea lukewarm as a loan shark's handshake, get up and flee that place as if it had a hex on it.

Remember, the stomach you save will be your own.

John Suggs' Family Meets in Clarksburg

A reunion was held May 30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Parker, Clarksburg. All the children of John Suggs and members of their families were present. His children are: Mrs. Truman ed. In the South they tossed it into a kettle of boiling lard until it gave up and sank. In the West and Southwest they fried it until you couldn't tell it from boot leather. In the Midwest they used all three methods.

The great camouflage material, besides the every ready ketchup bottle, was gravy. It flowed over the cook's errors in a thick, clabbered, impenetrable—and indigestible—flood.

All that is changed today. There

Variations In Market Indexes Are Explained

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Most stock traders follow at least one price index as a guide to the market's—and even the economy's—general trend. Many follow more than one. Yet the popular averages don't always point the same way.

How and why do they differ? swings so far apart in size? Why are their figures and their swings so far apart in size? Why did one index a few days ago hit a new high while two others got close but didn't make it?

The three seen most by newspaper readers are The Associated Press 60-stock price average, the Dow Jones 30-stock industrial index (part of its 65-stock average), oldest of the three; and Standard and Poor's index of 500 stocks (425 of them industrials), the youngest.

At the close of trading Friday the AP index stood at 273.3; the Dow Jones industrials at 722.41 and Standard & Poor's at 70.41.

Their age accounts even more for the variation in the figures than does the choice of stocks on their lists. The older they are the more they've been changed and weighted to show stock splits and substitutions.

The AP's new peak was set May 31 at 275.9. Standard & Poor's high of 76.69 was set in December 1961. Dow-Jones recently was only about 4 points below its high of 734.91, set Dec. 13, 1961.

Yet only five stocks on the Dow-Jones average hit their own record prices in 1963 (Chrysler, General Motors, International Harvester, California Standard Oil and Texaco). Ten others have not sold at their peak since the 1950s. And an eleventh (Anaconda) hits its postwar peak in 1956, but its historical one in 1929.

The stocks currently on the (started in 1897) are: Allied Dow Jones industrial index Chemical, Alcoa, American Can, Anaconda, A. T. & T., American Tobacco, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, General Foods, General Motors, Goodyear, International Harvester, International Nickel, International Paper, Johns-Manville, Owens-Illinois Glass, Procter & Gamble, Sears Roebuck, California Standard Oil, Jersey Standard Oil, Swift, Texaco, Union Carbide, United Aircraft, U.S. Steel, Westinghouse Electric and Woolworth.

Of these, 21 also are on the AP 30-stock industrial index. The nine on the AP but not on the Dow-Jones list are: Air Reduction, American Smelting, CIT Financial, Corn Products, Kennerott, Kroger, Liggett & Myers, National Biscuit and Pullman. The nine on the Dow-Jones but not the AP list are: Alcoa, A. T. & T. (AP carries this one on its utility index), American Tobacco, International Nickel, International Paper, Owens-Illinois, Procter & Gamble, and Swift.

The AP index of 30 industrials, 15 rails and 15 utilities was started in 1935. Since then there have been 5 substitutes in the industrial, 3 in the rails and 9 in the utility list.

These — and particularly the many stock splits since 1935 — mean that in compiling the average, the total price each day of one share of the 30 industrials is now divided by 5.28 (instead of 30 as at the start of the index 28 years ago); the rails by 4.10 (instead of 15) and the industrials by 5.38 (instead of 15). The total of 60 stocks (originally divisible by 60) is now divided by 12.48.

That is why the index peak May 31 was 275.95 rather than the $57.40 average price for the 60 on the list.

Even greater cuts in the divisors of Dow-Jones over the much longer time span is why the index is so much larger a figure.

But it too is weighted. The computer multiplies the price of each of the 500 by the number of shares outstanding, takes an average and compares it with the average during the base years of 1941-43. Weights are then applied for the 425 industrials, 25 rails and 50 utilities.

In a double ring ceremony May 26 at Episcopal Church in Warrensburg, Miss Annette Morolt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morolt, Ferguson, became the bride of Mr. James Markham, Gillette, Wyo., formerly of California, and son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Markham. The Rev. Fr. Moen officiated.

The bride wore a white street length dress. Her veil of bridal illusion was attached to a seed pearl tiara.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church dining room.

After the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to San Antonio, Texas.

The bride was graduated from Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, with a bachelor of science degree in May of 1963. She has been employed to teach in grades at Gillette, Wyo.

The bridegroom attended high school in California and Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg. He is general manager of a motel in Gillette.

Miss Galloway Is Wed To George Miller

Eldorado Methodist Church, decorated with baskets of white roses and candelabrum, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Sharon Kay Galloway, daughter of Mr. Galloway, Windsor, and Mrs. Clyde Reynolds, Marlin, Tex., and Mr. George Dale Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forest O. Miller, Windsor. The Rev. Ray Pike, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Curtis Allen played traditional wedding music.

Curtis Miller, Kansas City, brother of the bridegroom, lighted candles.

The bride wore a street length dress of pastel pink, fashioned with a full skirt and square neckline. She wore a small white hat with a short veil. Her only jewelry was a diamond charm watch, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds tied with lovers' knots on a white ribbon.

Miss Patty Hack was maid of honor. Her dress was a pleated street length dress of white. She wore a pink rosebud corsage.

Mr. Curtis Miller served his brother as best man.

The bridegroom's mother wore a powder blue sheath dress and a pink rosebud corsage.

A reception was held in the church basement. The bride's table was decorated in pink and green. It was centered with a three tiered wedding cake decorated with pink rosebuds. Punch and mints were served.

Mrs. Leonard Howery cut and served the cake, assisted by Mrs. Ted Miller and Mrs. Forrest Lee Miller. Miss Ellen Howery, Ionia, niece of the bridegroom, had charge of the guest book.

Misses Connie Galloway and Janet Galloway had charge of the gifts.

The couple left immediately after the reception for a trip to the Ozarks.

Mrs. Miller is a 1963 graduate of Windsor High School. Before her marriage, she was employed at Bernard's Restaurant.

Mr. Miller is a 1962 graduate of Windsor High School. He attended mechanics' school in Kansas City. He is now employed by John Friedly, Jr., Ionia.

The couple will live on County Line Road, Windsor.

GOP's Primary Problem

The flurry of talk about tossing a flock of favorite sons into the 1964 GOP presidential race could evaporate when the present confusion in the party shakes down a little.

Some experienced politicians listening to this talk believe it is a direct response to the uncertainty introduced when New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller remarried. Politicians in doubt tend to seek protective cover. The favorite son device qualifies as such.

Right now favorite son candidates seem a sure thing in Wisconsin, a strong prospect in Ohio and Colorado, a possibility in Oregon and California. All of these save Colorado are also states which conduct presidential preference primaries.

If the trend toward favorite son candidacies in such states should persist into 1964, that would raise a question of major importance to Republican voters.

The principal candidates now in sight for the GOP nomination are Rockefeller, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, and Gov. George Romney of Michigan. The first two, particularly, are expected to be in sharp combat in state after state.

Whatever the faults of the presidential primary system—and they are many—these tests are the only expression voters can give as to their choices for the nomination. They are the only means by which legitimate candidates can measure their real potential.

But the widespread resort to favorite sons would tend to discourage such tests. Where a respected state leader is given this honor, the real candidates often decide to stay out and not challenge him. Sometimes it is in fear of defeat. Sometimes it reflects a wish to avoid embarrassing the leader on his home grounds.

There are only some 15 states which hold presidential primaries. A few are quite minor. But those in Wisconsin, Oregon and California are among the potentially most significant on the list.

It would hardly be healthy for Republican presidential politics if these states were to be stripped from the agenda of major tests in 1964.

Politicians of course are of two minds about primaries. They devour the evidence they offer of a candidate's salability. They welcome the national publicity they bring the party.

But they really would like these benefits of open competition without the attendant pain. They dislike the divisive effects of battle, the cost and the trouble.

But as the Republicans approach the 1964 contest, their leaders must ask themselves whether the American people want a decision arrived at behind hotel room doors at convention time—or a decision the voters have had at least some part in shaping.

Looking Backward

SALT LAKE CITY DESERT NEWS: Teen-age Status-Seekers.—Those who view smoking as being harmful both physically and spiritually also consider it—to put it as gently as possible—not a very smart thing to do.

Now there's positive proof for this belief. Dr. Eva J. Salber of the Harvard School of Public Health studied 6,810 students from 12 to 17 years of age. She found that:

1. Smoking seems to be a teen-age status symbol.

2. Teen-agers who smoke are less intelligent than those who don't. In fact, the intelligence of those who smoked the most was lower than those who smoked the least.

Dr. Salber's findings ought to be a help to young people who have been wondering what to do when their friends offer them a cigarette. Now they can point to scientific evidence that it's smart not to smoke, that smoking marks a young person as being less bright than his non-smoking friends.

In view of these findings, young people everywhere really ought to forget about smoking and seek some other status symbol—unless the status they're seeking is one of inferiority.

World Wars Face Next Generation

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his eldest grandson, Drew Arnold.)

WASHINGTON, D. C.
June 11, 1963

Dear Grandson,

I have just come back from the class reunion at Swarthmore that you weren't able to attend. You were probably right in not coming, because my friends were much too old for you, though they would have enjoyed meeting you.

I had to make a speech before my old classmates, which is always hard to do, because they know you so well. But before I made it, I looked up some records of what was going on when I was in college just at the end of World War I. And since these are things you may have to worry about some day, I thought I would write you about them.

Looking through the college paper, The Phoenix, which I edited, I found in the issue of June 9, 1919, a letter from a student, in the Army, William Tomlinson, written from St. Nazaire, France.

"There seems to have been some friction between U. S. soldiers and French civilians," he said. "A small riot took place during which some Americans and more Frenchmen were shot. Negro stevedores from the quartermasters office do all the loading on the docks and French civilians can't get jobs."

The letter reminded me that today, 44 years later and after a second World War, we are still having problems with France, though the Negro problem has moved back to the United States.

Bayonets vs. Mass Murder

I also read in the same issue of the college newspaper: "Professor William I. Hull returned from his trip abroad working with the Peace Conference, May 31. Dr. Hull will only say that in his opinion there is in the Peace Treaty 33 good points and 39 bad points. . . The Treaty must be amended, or the 39 bad points cut out."

Prof. Hull was a Quaker teacher of history who used to teach me, and what he predicted turned out to all too true. The Peace Treaty, signed after World I, failed. We fought another war, and we are now trying to make the second Peace Treaty work. If we can't make it work, you and other boys of your age may find yourselves fighting a Third War—one which you had nothing to do with bringing on, but which you will have to fight anyway—simply because your fathers and grandfathers were not sufficiently diligent and far-sighted.

I also read in this issue of the college paper a reference to the manner in which my roommate, Russell Terradell of Trenton, N. J., had both legs and an arm shot away in the Battle of the Argonne when "going over the top" against fiendish enemy artillery fire.

That was a type of almost hand-to-hand fighting with rifles and bayonets in which not many men were killed, though the savagery of the killing was terrible.

If the fathers and grandfathers of today let children of the next generation in for another war, there will be no hand-to-hand fighting between men trained to fight. Instead people who know nothing about war, including women and children who had nothing to do with bringing on war, will be slaughtered wholesale. Because the weapons will not be the old-fashioned rifles that I trained with, but nuclear bombs which will lay waste whole cities and poison the atmosphere of continents.

Kennedy Is Trying

This is not a very happy thing to write about to a boy in high school. Perhaps you should have come with me to the class reunion so as to have cheered me up. Nevertheless these are things we have to face.

However, I am not as discouraged as I sound—for this reason: War has become so horrible that the strongest nations—Russia and the United States—are worried about it and the responsible leaders are leaning over backward to avoid it.

As you know, I have talked to Premier Khrushchev about these problems and I reported after I saw him that I was convinced he did not want war. One year later at the time he withdrew his missiles from Cuba, it seemed to me he demonstrated that fact.

I have also talked to President Kennedy and he once said: "I don't want history to record that Kennedy and Khrushchev set the world on fire with atomic war."

I know that Kennedy means this, and this week he made a very important speech bearing this out by pledging not to test any more nuclear weapons in the atmosphere if other nations also refrained. He also reminded the American people that Russia and the United States have never opposed each other on the battlefield—which a lot of Americans have forgotten.

I also read in the college paper of June 9, 1919, a tribute by the class valedictorian to the members of our class killed in battle and a plea not to let them down. To that end, we adopted as our class motto: "Carry On."

Unfortunately we did let them down. We did not "Carry On." We let the world drift into another horrible war, and the big question today is whether we will let the victims of World War II and the potential victims of World War III down again.

These are not happy things to think about, but they have to be thought about. We cannot run away from them. I shall write to you about them again.

The World Today

Words Only a Part Of Big Struggle

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Events proved what President Kennedy acknowledged in his talk to the nation: that words are only a small part of the solution to the racial struggle.

Within 24 hours after he appeared for the support of all citizens in trying to end discrimination against Negroes, this happened:

A Negro leader was shot dead in Mississippi, three white men were wounded and two Negroes stoned in street fighting in Maryland, and Southern Democrats in Congress announced defiance to Kennedy's civil rights proposals.

Last September violence came even faster when Kennedy asked nation-wide for peace in race relations.

That time, in the very midst of his request that James H. Meredith, a Negro, be quietly enrolled in the University of Mississippi, there was rioting on the campus against U.S. marshals and two men were killed.

The lesson seems plain from the events after Kennedy's two appeals to reason:

The search for equal rights for Negroes, even though they're entitled to them under the Constitution, will be long and probably bloody unless some great racial disaster, like a huge riot, shocks the nation into truly united action.

If that happens it will be a tragic commentary on America's inability to find through reason the long-delayed solution.

Kennedy made it clear in his address to the nation Tuesday night that he talked of the "domestic crisis" in the nation now and about the threat of violence and the threat to lives.

Negroes, afraid for almost 100 years to act on their own in protest in the white-dominated world of the South, have discovered that when they act together, and in masses, they must be listened to.

What may come out of this new and sudden realization of strength is unpredictable. For when they see one of their nonviolent leaders murdered, as in Mississippi, the other nonviolent leaders may be hurled aside for more direct action.

Yet, the Southern Democratic senators in Congress sound now as if this were back in the days of the 1940s when Negroes were still unsure and unorganized and offered no danger to the Southern whites determined to keep segregation.

Wednesday, before Kennedy even sent his new civil rights proposals to Congress, 18 Southern senators met and then their leader, Richard B. Russell of Georgia, had some words to say.

He pledged a powerful Southern Democratic fight—meaning, of course, a filibuster—against Kennedy's civil rights proposals although the administration apparently hasn't finished drawing them up.

Kennedy, through his whole administration up to now, has tried to keep the Southern Democrats pacified. If they didn't get mad at him, they could be helpful on other legislation besides civil rights.

This explains one good reason why he hasn't, until now, made any fight for truly strong civil rights laws.

Don't Fear Direct Action

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My 5-year-old boy stalls or fights me over everything I ask him to do. He just won't obey. Warning him to get ready to come in from the yard or trying to distract his attention when I'm trying to get his sweater on only makes things worse. My husband is no help. Because the boy obeys him, he says it's something in me that puts his back up. It has got to the point where I expect a fight no matter what I tell him to do.

Answer: Maybe one of these fights should be fought through to the finish. Are you afraid of physical conflict with your little boy?

If so, you can't rely on these tricks for cajoling him into obedience. He sees right through them to your fear of direct action. It's a pity that so many child guidance experts insist on recommending them. For mothers who are not afraid of action don't need them. And mothers who are afraid of it are encouraged to trust tricks as substitutes for the physical encounter with defiant small ones which may be necessary.

Sometimes we disdain physical conflict with a child as beneath our "dignity."

At least, that's what we tell ourselves. We think of ourselves as sensitive creatures in delicate recoil from the nastiness of the possible kicks and pummels involved in carrying a resisting 5-year-old in from the yard. Well, there was once a queen of France who recoiled from the nasty idea of eating common bread. She got her head cut off, you'll remember. And mothers who can't stand the idea of physical conflict with little boys and girls have a hard time keeping themselves together, too.

Children resent such phony dignity and will challenge it just as ruthlessly as France's peasants challenged their silly, play-acting rulers who were too proud to come down to earth.

We're not queens, you know. We're women trying to raise children. So when the power of civilized words breaks down between us and the little primitive we call a child, we have to resort to the primitive power of our arms and legs just as we have to get out and walk when our car breaks down. If we can't do it, we're afraid to do it and do ourselves no favor by calling our fear "sensitivity" and other beautiful names.

Children would have resulted here had there been no will, as a non-resident cannot act as administrator of an estate in Missouri.

Sun Allergy Victims Have Several Relief Approaches

By Wayne G. Brandstad, M.D.

Q—Is there such a thing as being allergic to the sun? I am a 38-year-old woman and have very dry skin. If I lie in the sun in the summer, my skin breaks out in hives, and itches. I've tried skin creams. They don't help.

A—Allergy to sunlight does occur. It is more common in women than in men, and is worse in summer when the sun's rays are more powerful.

In some persons hypersensitivity to light occurs only when they are taking certain drugs such as sulfonamides for infection, chlorpromazine (a tranquilizer), tolbutamide for diabetes, or chlorothiazide or acetazolamide for dropsy.

In some persons desensitization has been accomplished by brief exposure to sunlight every day. The disadvantages of this treatment are: (1) the danger of getting too large a dose, and (2) tolerance to light is developed only in the skin areas exposed.

It is better to stay in the shade and avoid sunlight—even that coming through window glass which filters out most of the ultraviolet light.

You should wear long sleeves, gloves and a broad-brimmed hat when you go out in the sun on a summer day. Sun-screen ointments are available but, as you may have found out, they may not give complete protection.

Antihistaminic drugs used for other kinds of allergy have helped some persons with this condition. The antimalarial drugs, hydroxychloroquine and amodiaquin have also proved useful. These drugs can be obtained only on a doctor's prescription.

Q—What is dermatitis herpetiformis. What will cure it?

A—In this skin eruption, a person may have reddened, itching, or burning spots, raised wheals resembling mosquito bites, small blisters, or pustules resembling those associated with acne. These different manifestations may all be present at once or may appear at different times, but the disease is apt to be persistent and recurrences are the rule.

Although the cause is unknown, such things as iodides and iodized salt, bromides, chocolate, nuts, fish, and pork may aggravate the disease.

Complete cures are rarely seen, but the disease usually runs its course in 10 to 20 years. During that time much can be done to make you more comfortable. Your doctor may want to use sulfapyridine, sulfoxone, potassium arsenite solution, or nicotinamide as these are frequently successful in relieving the symptoms. When the discomfort is severe a short course of cortisone may help.

Q—Some time ago I was sick. On the insurance form, the doctor wrote "Cholelithiasis." What is that? He said I was not insurable. Does that mean incurable?

A—Cholelithiasis means "having gallstones." This in itself should not make you uninsurable, since the gallstones or the entire gall bladder can be removed.

How to Erase Plastic Stains

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY—As plastic cups get older, stains penetrate and are hard to remove. I was ready to throw mine away and buy glass ones when my husband came to the rescue. He cleaned the cups with silicon carbide paper. This is somewhat like a fine sandpaper but is black. He used a medium fine piece and WET it. I was thrilled with the results and there was not a trace of stain left.

MRS. R. S.

GIRLS—This is a really super idea. The coffee stains disappear like magic. My daughter-in-law had some cream-colored plastic cups with deep coffee stains and our eyes popped as we watched the insides of the cups quickly restored to the same color as the outside. It was smooth as glass, too.

POLLY
DEAR POLLY—Knitted or crocheted dresses should be given careful attention between wearings. Do not hang on a coat hanger and do not fold in a drawer in a plastic bag. Here is a good idea, even for the traveler. Punch holes in a large mailing tube and insert your favorite sachet bags into the tube, just to make it smell nice. Then roll the dress carefully around the exterior of the tube. Wrap in plastic and tie with ribbon at either end. Garments keep their shape perfectly and are protected from moisture if you are at the seashore or near any water.

MRS. G. S.

DEAR POLLY—When laundering several pairs of socks at once, hang the socks on a coat hanger. If they do not dry completely by the time the other clothes are ready to take in, it is a simple matter to hang them to dry, still on the hanger, inside the house. When the socks are for two or three different people, use a separate hanger for each person's socks and thus eliminate the need to sort and match.

We the Women

What Would We Do?

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When a friend's automatic coffee maker recently went on the blink and she had to brew the morning eye-opener in an old fashioned pot, her young son asked, "But mom, how will you know when the coffee is through perking, if the coffee pot doesn't shut itself off automatically?"

His mother managed to reassure him on that question, but it got her to wondering.

Wouldn't he and his brothers and sisters—used to a world of automatic aids—have the same doubts and apprehensions if any of those aids refused to work?

If the telephone should be out of order, how in the world could they do their homework without counseling with friends every few minutes?

If the electric clothes dryer gave up, how in the world would their mother manage to dry the clothes?

If the blender or mixer refused to work, how could their mother manage to chop, mix and blend?

If the television quit, how would the family pass the evening?

It just occurred to her, my friend said, that we have a whole generation of children growing up, many of whom have never seen clothes scrubbed on a washboard or hung on the line to dry—or the eggs for a cake beaten by hand—or rugs cleaned by a push-it-yourself carpet sweeper—or grass cut by a hand mower—or houses cooled by cross-ventilation—or peas shelled by hand—or orange juice squeezed from oranges instead of taken frozen from a can—or even dishes washed in a dishpan, and dried by hand.

But while she was deploring this state of affairs, it also dawned on her that she would be almost as apprehensive as her children if all her automatic aids to living should suddenly refuse to work, and she found herself having to keep house the way her grandmother did, before the age of the electric helpers.

Past Year Unexciting On Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television's evening programs on the network this past season cost close to $800 million, counting production and time.

Now, at season's end, it is fair to ask what kind of television year it has been. The answer, underscored by the recent Emmy awards: unexciting.

Enjoyment of television is a highly personal affair—one man's "Meet the Press" is another viewer's poison. Most of us spend so many hours watching programs that we have become show-wise and thus demand more in terms of scripts, production and performance than in the old days when we went out to the movies once or twice a week.

At any rate, television's most memorable moments during the past season, as far as this viewer is concerned, came in the documentary and news areas.

"The Tunnel," which picked up the "program of the year" Emmy was a thoroughly gripping program, full of real suspense even if we did know at the outset that many people were to escape to freedom in the West through the escape passage dug under the Berlin wall.

But "The Kremlin," broadcast too late to qualify for this season's honors lists, is my candidate for television's finest hour of the year.

The cream of the entertainment shows were ones which, for a second year, took pains with scripts and performances. "The Defenders" had a point to make most weeks and made it in valid dramatic terms. "The Dick Van Dyke Show" was not only funny, but witty and charming.

It was a sorry year for original drama. The carefully produced "Hall of Fame" specials lacked zing. With a couple of outstanding exceptions — "The Outpost," an off-beat morality play, and "Big Deal in Laredo," a really amusing comedy — the Sunday night "Show of the Week" dramas were disappointing.

The variety shows had a tendency to look and sound alike, particularly because they all seemed to be using the same list of guest stars. Exceptions were "The Garry Moore Show," usually bright and fresh, and "The Andy Williams Show," handsomely mounted and in excellent taste. The Ed Sullivan Show, dean of the category, showed signs of age — or maybe some of us are getting tired of the format.

Now comes the summer period when television goes to sleep. And in September, with the viewers refreshed, there will be some 35 new programs slipped into the network schedules. And if you believe the press agents who are already thumping tubs, every last one of them is bound to be a smash hit.

CBS has started shooting its first show in the "Great Adventure" series, a tale about the first American submarine, used in the Civil War. Other adventures will include a story about General Mark Clark, women's suffrage and the crash of the dirigible Akron.

ABC plans a record-breaking five-part story among next season's "77 Sunset Strip" episodes. "Variety," the show business paper, suggests "Bonanza" will marry off Adam Cartwright next season as the first step in eliminating Pernel Roberts from the cast.

Triple Damages Sought In Suit By Kansas Trustees

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Authority to file suit for damages in Arizona has been granted the trustee for the Coffeyville Loan and Investment Co., undergoing reorganization under bankruptcy.

The suit, authorized Tuesday by U.S. District Judge Arthur J. Stanley, would seek triple damages against banks and financial institutions at Phoenix.

Hylton Harman is the newly appointed trustee of Coffeyville Loan, liquidation of which is being supervised by Judge Stanley.

Damages will be sought under anti-trust statutes, charging that the closing of another Donald R. Elbel enterprise, the Arizona Savings and Loan Association, was illegal and caused losses to CLIC.

MARCH OF FLUORIDATION—Of the nation's 61 most populous cities, 27 have fluorides added to their drinking water, another has approved fluoridation (Detroit) and five have natural fluoridation (Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Albuquerque and Jacksonville). Addition of fluorides to water is designed to strengthen human teeth against decay. Newsmap spots these 61 cities. Those with fluoridation are named in black boxes. In many cases, total number of persons drinking fluoridated water is greater than the city's population because surrounding suburbs may buy water from the city. For instance, over 3.5 million persons in Chicago drink fluoridated water, plus 300,000 others in 58 suburbs using Chicago water. Detroit will begin fluoridating in 1964, affecting 3.5 million people in the city and 53 suburbs. New York's mayor plans to inaugurate fluoridation before the end of 1963. Over the nation as a whole, more than 51 million Americans in 4,251 communities were drinking fluoridated water at the end of 1962. Of these, 7.2 million had natural fluoridation, 43.8 million had controlled fluoridation.

Beef Prices Lowest In Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Supermarket specials make it easy to stage a big father's day feed this Sunday.

Beef prices continue to ride close to the lowest levels in years. Fresh pork prices have risen a bit, but such cured varieties as hams are still offered at low prices. And bargains abound in fryers and turkeys.

In addition, there's a wide range of fresh vegetable offerings, and some treats like watermelon are at or near seasonal lows.

At beef counters, one national chain is selling rib roasts at 53 cents a pound in its New York outlets — the lowest price the chain has charged since the fall of 1961.

Other beef features include round roasts, hamburger and pot roasts.

Smoked hams are offered in the Northeast by one chain at a range from 29 cents a pound for shank ends to 49 cents for the whole ham. Picnic hams and smoked butts are featured in the Midwest and Southeast. On the West Coast however, smoked hams have begun following fresh prices upward, with some items showing a rise of 3 to 4 cents a pound.

Fryer chickens have held steady at about 30-35 cents a pound in most markets, making them very economical fare. In the Midwest, prices have slipped downward recently.

The vegetable selection broadens steadily with the influx of local produce and the seasonal army

Among the items featured regionally are asparagus, yellow squash, artichokes, okra, black-eyed peas, snap beans, peppers and spinach.

There are good supplies of carrots, cauliflower, celery, cucumbers, radishes, potatoes and tomatoes.

Watermelon supplies are building toward a climax as Florida output overlaps the coming production from Texas, Alabama and Georgia. The outlook is for a crop even bigger than last year's.

Cantaloupes, bananas, peaches, strawberries and, regionally, plums, apricots and cherries are among the best buys in fruits.

Phony Mortgages Result In Action

COFFEYVILLE, Kan. (AP)—A Coffeyville and Independence, Kan., appliance dealer was arraigned in City Court Wednesday on a charge of forging five mortgages on appliances and selling the contracts to a finance company.

Albert Lesco entered no plea and was held under $50,000 bond. Preliminary hearing was set for June 19. He was arrested Sunday in Las Vegas, Nev.

County Atty. Bill Watson said he took a statement from Lesco that most of the money went into his business and some into gambling.

Biggest Big League Winner

O'Toole Strutting At Parade's Front

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

That star strutting at the head of baseball's big parade is Jim O'Toole, who couldn't even make the rear ranks as a kid pitcher.

Cincinnati's prize southpaw, bounced out of an amateur league in his teens because of a scatter-gun arm and shunned by several teams in the majors after tryouts, has added another victory as the biggest winner in the big leagues.

Firing a three-hitter, O'Toole pitched the Reds over Pittsburgh 3-0 Wednesday night for his 11th triumph.

It was the 26-year-old left-hander's second shutout in a row and fifth of the season—and it gave Cincinnati a vital boost in the National League race. The Reds are in fifth place, but only 2½ games off the pace.

The Los Angeles Dodgers regained a slender lead with a 9-1 rout of Houston that put them .002 points ahead of San Francisco and St. Louis. The Giants beat fourth-place Chicago 3-1 on Willie McCovey's two homers and Bob Bolin's strong pitching, while Philadelphia knocked the Cardinals out of first, 6-2.

Cole-Cooper Retain Trap Event Lead

The team of Cole and Cooper retains a solid lead in the Sedalia Rod & Gun Club's league trap shoot standings with an 11-point edge over second place Broadway Lanes.

Vernon Arnett, Bill Palmer, Roy Rinkenbaugh and Bernard Dove all fired 24's.

In a 21-point derby event, John Rose and Dick Cole both fired 25's to tie for first and three points each.

Second place and two points each went to John Poyner, Bernard Dove and Ed Christian with scores of 24.

Rink Rinkenbaugh, Richard Arnett and Bill Palmer tied for third with 23's and were credited with one point each.

High scores being fired on the gun club's new trap layout indicate the new setup is one of the best in the area.

Turley Hurls One Hitter; Tumbles Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—Once a Yankee, always a Yankee—as far as the Chicago White Sox were concerned today.

Bob Turley, once a 21-game winner for the Yankees, hurled a one-hitter at Comiskey Park Wednesday night to tumble the White Sox from first place in a twin bill split with the Los Angeles Angels.

Turley's masterpiece—he had a budding no-hitter spoiled by Pete Ward's clean single to center in the sixth inning—came in a 5-0 Los Angeles nightcap triumph after Johnny Buzhardt's three-hitter gave the Sox a 3-1 opening victory.

The split, coupled with New York's 3-2 10-inning decisions over Baltimore, nudged the Yankees one percentage point ahead of the White Sox, .577 to .576.

Turley, signed by the Angels this spring after he was conditionally purchased from the Yankees in October, achieved his 100th victory of his major league career with the one-hitter.

His only previous triumph this season against five defeats was a three-hit, 2-0 shutout of Minnesota on May 7.

Turley recalled this was "my third or fourth one-hitter."

Ward belted a "good, low slider" for the only Sox hit Wednesday night, Turley said, adding: "He didn't meet the ball clean, or it would have been lofted higher and been caught."

"The first Dodge truck I owned was a 1958 model. It cost me less than a fifth of a cent a mile for repairs over 150,000 miles. I'm in the lime and fertilizer business and my trucks cover a lot of miles in fields, in low gear, with the engine running the spreading bed, too. Since 1958 I've bought nothing but Dodges and have five now. They give me about two miles to a gallon more than other makes I've owned. And I've never had a broken spring or axle with any of them!" Arthur Hutchcraft, Atlanta, Illinois. Dodge trucks keep getting more economical all the time. Those at your dealer's now are more than fifty ways better than the Dodge trucks of a year ago. Money Mark Overrated, Player Says

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Gary Player, one of the top favorites in the $100,000 Thunderbird Classic that began today, says too much importance is put on the dollar mark and not enough on the scorecard in bigtime golf.

"It's getting so players are judged not by how many tournaments they win or how well they play, but how much official money they collect," the articulate little South African said. "It is an unfair and inaccurate gauge."

"Why, a fellow could win four of the bigger tournaments, with first prizes of $25,000 each, and make $100,000. He might be the leading money winner although other players have competed in more tournaments and compiled a better scoring average."

Player, one of the game's current Big Three which also includes Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, tees off in the first round of the Thunderbird tournament over the 6,550-yard, par-70, Westchester Country Club course. He is paired with Palmer.

Nicklaus, the 23-year-old Masters and U.S. Open champion, goes off later with Bob Rosburg and Paul Runyan.

They are the big names in the 138-man field, which includes a trio of red-hot menaces in Julius Boros, winner of the Buick Open last weekend; Tony Lema, who has been dogging the footsteps of the big three, and steady Dow Finsterwald, playing at the peak of his game. Ben Hogan, now 50, is added dressing.

Nicklaus currently is leading the money list with earnings of $57,615, followed by Lema, $49,006, Boros, $43,325, and Player, $39,067.

Player, 27, leading money winner in 1961 is determined to win the U.S. Open, and he's convinced he'll do it — maybe this year, at Brookline Mass, next week.

"It's the last leg of my goal," he said. "I've won the Masters, British Open and PGA. I've finished second in the Open but I must win it. I like the Country Club at Brookline and I am playing very well. This may be my year."

Gate Take Is Hurting

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves are hurting at the gate and they'd like to unload veteran Lew Burdette and his hefty salary. However, the fidgity right-hander is putting the brass in somewhat of a bind.

Burdette laughed at trade talk in a pitcher's best manner Wednesday night as he allowed only three harmless singles in a 9-0 victory over the New York Mets.

"To heck with the trading business," the 36-year-old Burdette said. "I just want to pitch regularly."

The Braves asked waivers on Burdette only last month. The waivers were recalled when the St. Louis Cardinals expressed a willingness to accept fidgity Lew's reported salary of $50,000.

Burdette, whose 179 major league victories include six in 11 decisions this year, admitted that he couldn't "help but think a little about all the trade talk."

"You hear rumors every year, but this is the first time I think I've ever been really involved in serious discussion," he said. "I can do only one thing—go out there and do my best. I have a lot of pitching left and I can't let trade rumors rattle me."

Cards Stay In First Is Short

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The St. Louis Cardinals' stay in first place in the National League was brief, but Kansas City's share of fourth place in the American League was even shorter.

The Cardinals dropped into a tie for second, percentage points behind Los Angeles, after losing to the Philadelphia Phillies 6-2 in St. Louis Wednesday night. The Cardinals held first place just one day.

The A's moved to fourth when they won the first game of a doubleheader at Minnesota, 12-4, Wednesday night. But an 8-1 loss in the second game dropped them to sixth.

Two three-run bursts — one against starter Ron Taylor, who lasted one-third of an inning, and the other against Bobby Shantz — won for the Phillies. The Cardinals left 11 men on base.

The A's cracked 17 hits in their opener, including two-run homers by Chuck Essegian and rookie Ken Harrelson. Ed Charles collected three hits and drove in three runs.

Dave Wicksham coasted to his fifth victory in nine decisions, giving up eight hits in going the distance.

In the second game, the Twins pounded 13 hits to back up the

Self-Help Program In Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's nervous whites are embarking on a two-point do-it-yourself program to deal with the brewing racial problem in this divided land.

Businessmen spend their evenings learning to fire machine guns. Schools teach their children how to handle weapons. This is part of the home defense plan pushed by the government to meet the threat of a head-on collision with the nation's 12 million restless nonwhites. Authorities want white women, accustomed to generations of black servants, to start learning to do their own housework. In the home, another do-it-yourself scheme is under way that is apt to cause some loud dissent. The aim here is to make whites more self-sufficient against the day when the government hopes to have most Africans segregated. The vigilante measures were stepped up after the threat by African leaders at the recent summit conference in Addis Ababa.

Ethiopia, to wrest South Africa from its white rulers by armed force. Authorities here labeled the threat "so much hot air," but Defense Minister James Fouché said the nation intended to be prepared for any eventuality. The vigilante movement was prompted by race riots last November in the Cape Province town of Paarl where about 200 armed Africans hacked two whites to death, then attempted to storm the local jail to liberate comrades. Many isolated farms will be provided with distress signal lights. Air commando planes will scout them while on patrol. Fouché is also organizing home guard units of coloreds, Indians and Africans loyal to the government to help police.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

TAXES: The House Ways and Means Committee, drafting a tax cut and revision bill, has rejected President Kennedy's proposal that a $300 credit against income tax be substituted for the present extra personal exemption and retirement income credit for persons over 65.

The Treasury estimated that the proposal, liberalizing tax treatment substantially for aged taxpayers in the low- and middle-income groups, would reduce government tax revenues $350 million annually.

Also rejected was a Kennedy proposal to allow business firms to deduct the cost of research equipment as a current expense.

VICE PRESIDENT: A constitutional amendment to transfer the powers and duties of a disabled president to the vice president under conditions to be prescribed by Congress has the endorsement of the American Bar Association.

Lewis F. Powell Jr., Richmond, Va., president-elect of the law group, endorsed the amendment Tuesday. He told a Senate subcommittee agreement like those between President Kennedy and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and between former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and vice president, Richard M. Nixon, are "hardly an acceptable permanent solution."

POETRY: A U.S. Information Agency gift of 25 books of modern Brazilian poetry—presented to Brazilian poets—has Rep. John J. Rooney wondering.

"How does this make an impact on the minds of the men and the people of Brazil, to send them their own poetry, and give them away to poets whom one would expect to be thoroughly acquaint-

Hints for Happy Holidays

Some of the most striking scenery, photogenic views and best loafing sites on a vacation trip can be found on the back roads. But they can also be dangerous for the unwary driver. There's only one safe way to drive these roads—as if you were blazing a new trail.

(4) Blazing New Trails

Roads can be rough, high-crowned, sometimes rugged. Go slowly and keep a sharp eye out for hazards. Sharp turns often are unmarked. Crossroads and bridges appear without warning. Be alert for bicyclists, pedestrians, slow-moving vehicles, hidden driveways. If you find yourself in a parade of cars, pull off the road when you can and let the others pass.

CHECKLIST

- ✓ Drive as though you're blazing a new trail—slowly and carefully.
- ✓ Expect the unexpected: sharp turns, crossroads, obstructions.
- ✓ Watch for the slow-moving vehicles that use these roads heavily.
- ✓ Keep an eye on your fuel, oil and water supply. Don't depend on a service station being just around the next bend.

Ten Year Parole Given Von Wedel

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Curt Otto VonWedel, 40, was sentenced to five years in prison Tuesday for the death of his wife, but was paroled for 10 years provided he obtains psychiatric treatment.

Three-in-One oil, 5-Day Deodorant, 6-12 insect repellent, Eternal 21, and 2500 Design, which is office furniture made by All-Steel Equipment of Aurora, Ill.

And then there was a Faith 7—not a brand name but a capsule that Americans followed anxiously on its recent 22 orbits of the earth.

Von Wedel, originally charged with murder, pleaded guilty to manslaughter after the state's only witness, Mrs. Von Wedel's son by a former marriage, declined to return from Colorado to testify.

Mrs. Audrey Von Wedel was shot to death on March 12, 1962, in a family argument.

Cigarette Danger Brought Up In Canada

TORONTO (AP)—The Canadian Medical Association decided Tuesday to ask the federal government to declare lung cancer "a major public health problem" and to suggest that warning labels be placed on cigarette packages to indicate that cigarettes are a health hazard.

The government also will be asked for stronger enforcement of the Tobacco Restraint Act, which makes it illegal for children under 16 to buy or smoke any tobacco products.

ed with poetry in Brazil?" the New York Democrat asked.

Rooney, who is chairman of a House Appropriations subcommittee, brought up the poetry in questioning Gordon A. Ewing, director of the USIA information center service.

Ewing said the poetry was in English translation and the intention of the book was to show an interest in Brazilian culture.

Johnnies-Come-Lately In the Numbers Game

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service and the banks and the phone company are just Johnnies-come-lately to the numbers game. Businessmen have been playing it for more than a century. And many still favor a number when choosing a name for a new product.

The numbers game has worked fine for many of them. The digits have become household words. Customers have had little trouble remembering the numbers—every woman knows what you mean when you say Chanel No. 5. And some companies hold onto the number titles long after diversifying or expanding product lines—Heinz 57 Varieties once was an accurate tally but now the company makes some 300 products, without changing its slogan.

Generations grew up quite at home with 20-Mule Team Borax, just as any youngster today can tell a Boeing 707 from a DC1.

But many depositors still aren't reconciled to losing their names and becoming numbers at the bank. The IRS fast is herding all income tax payers into the same faceless category as it caters to the electronic computer. And the AT&T stoutly ignores all protests against its dropping exchange names for lengthy strings of digits that stand for paying customers.

The origin of some of the numbers that business has made brand names goes far back in history as well as far from the market place.

For example, we are told that in the 1820s a Mr. Brand was chef to Britain's King George IV. One day the gourmet monarch tasted a new sauce and said, "Brand, this is A-1." That was before the vogue for A-Okay. So when the chef set up a business for himself he called his concoction, "Brand's A-1 Steak Sauce," as it's still known.

When Napoleon occupied Cologne, his soldiers numbered houses as a billeting guide. The house of a Mulhens family drew 4711, and later the Mulhens developed a product they named 4711 eau de cologne.

Just 100 years ago, the story goes a band of Scotsmen gathered at the Sanderson distillery in Leith to choose between 100 containers of different Scotch formulas. After sampling the contents of each and every barrel those on their feet chose Vat 69. And the name still sticks.

Other beverages favor numbers—all the way from 7-Up and V-8 vegetable juice to 7-Crown whisky and 5-Star Hennessey.

A few of the many other brand names based on numbers are

Venezuela Nearing Vote On Betancourt's Successor

By PAUL FINCH
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Still battling diehard Castro-Communists, Venezuela is hurtling toward an historic and probably violent election for the successor to President Romulo Betancourt.

Four candidates already are campaigning at full tilt and a fifth will appear next month—the long-awaited choice of Betancourt's own big worker-peasant party, Democratic Action.

No matter who wins the mere election itself would be a victory for democracy in this oil-rich but underdeveloped country.

Betancourt has been under attack by Communists—as well as right-wing plotters—since shortly after he took office in 1959 and refused to let Communists take part in his coalition government.

It was hardly a surprise to any Venezuelan a week ago when Diplomats say Communists have lost prestige in Venezuela since 1958, when they took credit for helping to oust dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

"Terrorism has backfired on them," says one government official. "Fidel Castro has also lost his appeal because of his economic failure in Cuba."

Communists themselves may feel this. The terrorist group FALN—Armed Front of National Liberation—no longer uses the words Castro or communism in its propaganda.

FALN, says the government, still is a Communist weapon which hopes by terrorism to provoke a right-wing army coup. Officials estimate only 400 of Venezuela's 40,000 Communists have been chosen as FALN activists.

Betancourt's successor must be as strong as he or it will yet be

Grand Jury Indicts Two For Mail Fraud

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Two Californians were indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday on charges of mail fraud involving sales of resort property.

Roger L. Eaton, 31, of Los Alamitos and Donald G. Peacock, 28, of Bellflower were charged with 53 counts of mail and wire fraud and one of conspiracy. District Attorney Newell George said he believes they are being detained in Colorado.

The men, operating as Associated Resorts Inc. of Wichita, advertised land for sale in Colorado and Minnesota, George said.

The indictment said they purchased land of little value in both states and offered it for $29.75 a lot, plus closing and handling charges of $39.50. The purchaser, according to the indictment, was assured the lot was located in a popular resort area with unlimited facilities.

The indictment lists 41 complaints.

STRAWBERRY ANGEL FLUFF

Made with creamy, smooth MILNOT

2 packages strawberry flavored gelatin (or 1 family size),
2 cups boiling water, 1 quart strawberries, sliced or halved,
1 cup sugar, 1½ cups MILNOT, whipped,
1 angel food cake (approx. 14 oz.)

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water, cool. Sweeten the strawberries with sugar, add to cooled gelatin; chill until slightly thickened. Fold stiffly whipped MILNOT into gelatin mixture. Break cake into small pieces and line large pan or dish (approx. 9x12). Pour strawberry mixture over cake—be sure cake is well-covered. Chill several hours.

Note: Frozen strawberries may be used. Omit sugar and substitute 2 one-lb. boxes frozen berries.

Mmmmm marvelous MILNOT! Use it wherever your recipe calls for milk or cream. MILNOT is rich in vitamins and proteins because it takes a whole quart of milk to make one can of MILNOT. And MILNOT whips into creamy peaks at room temperature, too. No wonder they say:

"If cows could...they'd give MILNOT"

Merv Griffin On Morning TV Again

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — After all the sound and fury, Merv Griffin is coming back to NBC in the fall — as host on a new morning game show.

There's a bit of irony in Tuesday's NBC announcement, for Griffin quit an NBC morning game show about a year ago in order to do "The Merv Griffin Show" in the afternoon on the network. Its cancellation three months ago for low ratings caused more anguish and noisy hand-wringing than any other single event of the television season.

Griffin's new show—which his production company will package—is called "Shopping Spree" and will be one of two new shows which will be added to the network's solid three-hour block of games shows starting at 10 a.m. NBC lost "The Price Is Right" to ABC, starting in the fall. And it will drop, as expected, "Play Your Hunch," which has been starring Robert Q. Lewis since Griffin quit the show.

"Shopping Spree" and another word game, "Missing Links" will replace them. It is probable that Robert Q. will move over to "Missing Links" as host.

Griffin will spend the summer serving as host on CBS' "Talent Scouts," on Tuesday night and playing in summer stock. He opened Monday night in "The Moon Is Blue" at Bucks County Playhouse.

Impending motherhood has raised hob with Carol Burnett's theater and television plans. Carol, now Mrs. Joe Hamilton, expects her first child after the first of the year, so her planned Broadway musical, hand-tailored by Betty Comden and Adolph Green, has been postponed until spring.

This, in turn, has fouled up CBS plans for a Carol Burnett Television series for the 1964-65 season. Carol started rehearsals for "Calamity Jane" in Dallas Tuesday, and after playing the show there, returns to New York for two weeks to adapt the show to television. It will be taped July 10 for use as a special next season. She also expects to make another CBS special in England during August.

Lloyd Lee Harsh May Have Faked His Amnesia

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—The possibility that Lloyd Lee Harsh was feigning amnesia was raised Tuesday in his murder trial. The 18-year-old high school football star is charged with killing a girl schoolmate and wounding her fiance.

Final arguments and instructions to the Johnson County District Court jury were expected to take about four hours today.

Harsh is charged with killing Miss Donna Busby with a shotgun and injuring Thomas Thorp, 20, of Endicott, Neb., beside a campfire on March 2.

Dr. William V. McKnelly, a psychiatrist, testified Harsh's conversations with sheriff's officers is crucial in determining whether he had amnesia.

Harsh testified he began to recall the shooting only gradually and several days later.

W. C. Jones, his attorney, noted that Sheriff's Detective Martin H. Dobson said at the preliminary examination that Harsh did not recall what had happened.

In the trial, Dobson testified Harsh admitted he returned to the campsite from his home nearby, pointing a gun in the direction of Miss Busby and Thorp and pulling the trigger two or three times.

Dobson said Harsh did not respond to earlier questioning but later recalled the details.

On the stand, Harsh said he shot Thorp in self defense and he thinks Thorp shot the girl.

ROOM UN BRING DEI FREIND MIT!—That invitation, in a German dialect, is sincere and hospitable. Literally, it means "Come and bring your friends along," and the bid is issued by the hundreds of persons staging the 14th annual Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival at Kutztown, Pa., June 29 through July 6. At left, workers hoist the body on a windlass preparatory to altering a wagon for use in haying the way it was done during the 18th century. Sunbonneted farm women, right, demonstrate turning out soap used on the farm. One stirs the soap mixture—lye and fats mainly—in a huge cauldron while the other cuts solidified bars into cubes. These are but two demonstrations of Dutch life—past and present—which will be staged during the festival.

Hoffa Loses Bid for Control Of CWA in K.C.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Joseph A. Beirne, a bitter foe of James R. Hoffa, the Teamsters boss, was re-elected president of the Communications Workers of America as Teamsters picketed outside CWA convention headquarters Tuesday.

The pickets, carrying signs and literature seeking to lure telephone workers into the Teamsters Union, had little effect on the election.

Beirne won 226,373 to 39,969 over Wayne K. Hazen of Jacksonville, Fla. J. M. Massey, John C. Crull and Ray Hackney were re-elected vice presidents. W. A. Smallwood was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Beirne has said Hoffa is trying to raid the CWA.

"I appreciate greatly the support you have shown me," he told the convention.

Five former CWA officials, dismissed following an unsuccessful effort by the Teamsters in January to take over Western Electric Equipment installers, indicated they may appeal their dismissals on the convention floor Friday.

They would be going over Beirne's head to seek reinstatement. He and the union's international executive board ousted them.

Hard hats and a roofed mine car protect tourists to the Seldom Seen Valley Mine.

Visitors to the Seldom Seen chip their own sample coal.

Visitors Really Dig This Mine

They're digging coal—and mining tourist possibilities—at Seldom Seen, Pa. The Seldom Seen Valley Mine runs a tourist mine train during the summer, Wednesday through Sunday, and visitors are treated to the sight of a mine in actual operation. Hazardous operations, such as blasting, are performed in off-tourist hours. • As an added treat the hard-hatted amateur miners are permitted to chip their own samples of coal, as at left, from the face of the coal seam. Popularity of the tours has sparked a plan for restoration of the ghost town of Seldom Seen, to provide added attractions for the vacation time miners.

Senate Approval In Doubt

Disarmament Chief Talks On Chances Of Treaty

Editor's Note—As U. S. disarmament director, William C. Foster would have a major role in selling any nuclear test ban treaty to the Senate. Does he think Senate approval of such a treaty is likely? Does he believe the Russians really want to end nuclear testing? These and other questions are answered in this exclusive interview.

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Disarmament Director William C. Foster predicts a safe passage in the Senate for any nuclear test ban treaty signed by the Soviet Union and the West.

He does not agree with those who predict that a treaty would provoke the most bruising battle in the Senate since the proposal to join the League of Nations after World War I. Nor does he believe it would suffer the same dismal fate.

"It would be tough," Foster said in an interview, "but we could get a treaty through the Senate."

Foster, 66, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, will not take part in the U.S.-British-Soviet nuclear test ban treaty negotiations in Moscow next month. From his office here, he will back up the efforts of the American negotiators.

He would have a major role in selling any treaty to the Senate. Without the approval of a two-thirds majority, the treaty, like the League of Nations proposal almost 50 years ago, would die, unratified.

Despite his optimism, Foster said he had no illusions about the significance of a nuclear test ban treaty.

"The importance of a treaty has been exaggerated," he said. "It has symbolic value. Everyone feels that if we can't negotiate a test ban—when we are so close—then we can't negotiate any other part of the disarmament program."

"Fundamentally it might be possible to negotiate some other part of the disarmament program before a nuclear test ban," he continued, "but psychologically it's not possible. Yet, if we had a test ban, we still would be very far from disarmament and arms control."

Foster also saw an overemphasis in the current concern over the number of inspections in a treaty. The Russians have said they would allow no more than three inspections of possible underground tests. The Americans have said they would settle for no less than seven.

"The number of inspections is not as important as the fact that these inspections are part of a system," Foster said. "We want to know how long we can inspect, who does the inspecting, where do we inspect, and so on.

"Three inspections a year would be too little," he said. "But there's no magic in the number seven."

Foster gave his views before President Kennedy announced Monday that he, Soviet Premier Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had agreed to have representatives meet for the Moscow negotiations.

The affable and articulate Foster has put in long years as a corporation and government executive—he was administrator of the Marshall Plan and deputy secretary of defense under President Harry S. Truman—and he speaks with ease.

Foster took issue with Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and others who feel that the U.S. Senate is the "big, black obstacle" to a test ban.

"Congress isn't the big, black obstacle to a treaty," Foster said with a smile. "The Russians are."

"I don't agree with those who say the Senate would not ratify a treaty," he continued. "At the moment, you know, the situation isn't clear. We don't go to Congress and fight for a treaty. We don't have a treaty. The situation would be different if a treaty were signed. The President would give it his full support. That would make the critical difference especially with those Congress-

No Chinese Comment On Test Ban Talks

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China reported without comment today on the agreement by the three big powers—the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain—to hold nuclear bomb ban talks in Moscow next month.

men who haven't made up their minds."

Foster believes that the Russian sincerely want to end nuclear testing.

"They are logical people," he said. "They know the risks of continued testing. They know testing is expensive."

Foster does not expect the United States ever to negotiate a treaty that is fool-proof against all cheating underground.

"We want a treaty that keeps the risks to a minimum," he said. "We want the risks from cheating to be far less on balance than the risks of continuing to test nuclear weapons."

"We are not going to get a treaty without risks. Anyone who expects a treaty without risks doesn't understand the world we live in."

Life's Little Ordeals A Problem for Disorderly

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's little ordeals to the disorderly is trying to sustain their own sense of order.

As a man with a chronic reputation for being disorderly in the arrangement of his belongings, I will go further than saying this is a little ordeal in living. It is a major problem.

I regard myself as a person with an immaculate sense of order. But, as is true of many a man or woman with the same idiosyncrasy, I make order in my own way.

Instead of wasting my time and energy as so-called neat people do by confining the paper wealth that comes my way in the A-B-C confusion of file cabinets, I pile it up layer by layer on my desk.

If letters, books, or packages arrive on a day when I don't feel like opening mail, I stack them on top of the debris I live by—and wait until a sense of adventure does impel me to do so.

Paper by paper, envelope by envelope, layer by layer, such a person knows by memory the uncharted labyrinth on his desk that the rest of the unfeeling world regards as an aimless clutter. Blindfolded, he can reach a sensitive hand within the mass and pluck out what he needs at any moment.

He can, that is, if he is left alone. But he is not left alone. The bane of the so-called disorderly person in this world is the curiosity of the so-called neat person.

I am convinced by long office association with so-called neat people that they live starved lives. After stashing away under the A-B-C technique what the mailman brings them, they have a feeling of something missing in their living.

So they are irresistibly drawn to the laden desks of the so-called disorderly. It serves as a magnet to their insecurity.

They pick up and read letters at random, open packages not addressed to them, overturn the considered layers that have real meaning only to the owner, and make a real chaos out of what is a planned confusion.

What do they seek? What do they hope to find? They don't really know—and I don't either. Several times I have put atop the hoarded junk pile upon my desk a simple note saying:

"Whatever you are looking for in this world that will make your life better, it probably isn't here. Why don't you look under 'H'—for happiness—in your own files?"

The irate notes do no good. Whenever I reach with a sure hand for what I want in the mess on my desk, I find some meddlesome passer-by has overturned the pile and made a real mess of it.

Well, I suppose there is no real use in fighting it. One of the in-

Kentuck Rifle Term Change For 'Old Sure Fire' Sought

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The American frontiersman knew it as the "long rifle."

Or, as mankind often does to inanimate objects, he personalized it to "Old Sure Fire," or "Indian Lament," or "Deer Killer."

But Kentucky rifle? Absolutely ridiculous, say folks in Pennsylvania.

Headed by Gov. William W. Scranton, they are in the midst of a campaign — with strong overtones of luring the tourist trade — to remove the term Kentucky rifle from history books and substitute "Pennsylvania rifle" or "Lancaster rifle."

According to Pennsylvanians, historical evidence traces the origin of the long rifle to Continental Europe, through German and Swiss immigrants who settled in eastern Pennsylvania in the early 18th century.

The distinctive feature of the hunting weapons used in the German forests and the Swiss mountains was the rifled barrel, providing greater range and better accuracy than the smooth-bore muskets of the English.

Early American settlers brought the musket with them, but the wave of immigration from the Continent in the early 1700s located German and Swiss gunsmiths in the lush valleys of what is now Lancaster County, southeast of Harrisburg and west of Philadelphia.

These gunsmiths began turning out the weapons common to their homeland for use on the frontier that then was their backyard.

The large-bore, heavy, cumbersome weapon of the Continent became the lightweight, small-bore, graceful weapon of the American woodsman.

The typical rifle weighed seven to nine pounds, was about five feet in length and fired a .45-caliber ball.

It was loaded by ramming powder and ball through the barrel.

The firing process began somewhat like lighting a modern cigarette lighter: the trigger tripped a flint that ignited a primer that fired the charge.

Modern marksmen can attest to the distraction of that first flash of the primer, but the colonial marksmen learned to ignore it and earned a proficiency for accuracy that was chronicled in both the diaries of the frontier and of the Revolutionary War.

Its range and accuracy were equalizing factors for the unschooled militiamen against the trained armies of England. On the frontier, it tipped the scales definitely in favor of the American woodsman.

It still was earning its reputation in the war of 1812 as Andrew Jackson's Tennessee and Kentucky riflemen sighted through the mists at charging British troops in the battle of New Orleans.

By then the romance of the frontier and the frontiersmen had earned the generic title, "Kentucky rifle" for the long rifle.

None of the earlier names, such as "Lancaster rifle," had caught the historians' fancy. Efforts to attach the name of Daniel Boone to the rifle never caught hold.

Boone was one of the woodsmen that helped earn a reputation for and from the rifle. It was ironic, because he was born in eastern Pennsylvania not too far from Lancaster, and learned to handle his weapon on the Pennsylvania frontiers. His family moved westward in 1750 when he was about 16 and he went on to win fame in Kentucky and help attach that state's claim to the rifle.

Pennsylvania still maintains the Boone birthplace near the city of Reading as an historic shrine.

It hopes to reclaim its right to the long rifle in a shoot-out on the Boone homestead this September.

A challenge to the match was issued earlier this year, born of nostalgia and nurtured by unadulterated press agency.

The idea is that the states will shoot two rounds, one at the Boone homestead and one somewhere in Kentucky, with at least temporary title to the rifle going to the winner.

In any event, the two states hope to gain lots of tourist dollars.

Maharis Jobless, In Trouble

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—George Maharis quit the cast of "Route 66" more than six months ago, claiming his health wasn't up to the job. Now he is in the strange position of a healthy young man, much in demand, who wants to resume his career, but can't.

Maharis claims he was notified by CBS that he was a free agent last month as far as his commitments to "Route 66" were concerned because the packagers of the show had found in Glenn Corbett a "suitable replacement."

The dark-haired, intense young actor, who has become a popular singing star with hit records, was talking happily last week about making his singing debut next Sunday on the Ed Sullivan Show, a date which has been made and broken three times in the past three years.

Apparently, Sullivan wasn't so certain—he never announced Maharis' forthcoming appearance. Now, it has been postponed — again. The packagers of "Route 66" have, according to Maharis' representatives, served him and CBS with legal papers and seek to enjoin him from working for anybody else.

Maharis and Lancer productions, the packager, have been at odds for the better part of a year. First Maharis quit the show, suffering from hepatitis. Then he returned, claimed he was required to work too many hours during a convalescent period, and quit again.

Now, he says, he feels fit. He recently cut a new record, and has been rehearsing "The American Way," a drama for a future television series produced by David Susskind, looking over movie scripts and talking—to CBS among others—about a future television series.
